

What You Can Expect

A Word about Guitar Set-up

Until you learn how to set up your own guitars, you probably won't be perfectly happy. Unless you specify otherwise, I will set up a guitar to my standards: I play medium-gauge strings, like low action, but have a heavy hand and use a steel pick.

Don't expect ANY guitar to be set up properly for you - with a little research and experimentation, it's not difficult to set your own string and pickup height, neck relief, nut and bridge saddles, and intonation.

If you don't want to do it yourself, a good tech (like me) can do it for you. (A good tech will know your playing style and will want you to be there to audition changes as he makes them.)

Donald W. Hayward

Thanks for your patronage.